

Two-day Institute: Multi-genre and Persuasive Writing

Sponsored by Central Utah Writing Project

Learn creative ways to help your students love writing again. Bring back the passion and enthusiasm for writing by making it fun and engaging. This two-day workshop will provide you with the tools you need to be a successful curator of writing. Bring a flash drive (with a lot of memory) for exciting Power Points to support your instruction in multi-genre and persuasive writing.

Day 1: Multi Genre Exploration: Re-ignite the love of writing with your students by learning fun and engaging ways to teach writing in many genres. Help your students see the purpose and connection writing serves in all aspects of our lives.

Day 2: The Layered Approach to Teaching Persuasive Writing: Return from this workshop with lessons, Power Points, and the tools you need to help your students become successful persuasive writers while having fun at the same time.

July 20-21, 2010; 9-3:30

Provo School District PDC

One credit hour or points available.

$100 (checks made out to CUWP)

Send registration information (name and contact info) along with check to

Dixie Archibald, 4168 JFSB, Provo, UT 84602

